

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: When is GoTriangle hiring bus operators?

A: GoTriangle is always accepting applications for Operators; our goal is to keep a steady stream of interested and qualified applicants who can be ready to meet a hiring demand.

Q: Do I need to possess a CDL (Commercial Driver License) to become a GoTriangle Bus Operator?

A: Having a CDL is not a requirement for filling out an application; however, applicants who already have a CDL license or permit will be given priority consideration. Individuals who are extended an offer of employment will be required to have a CDL Permit with a Passenger Endorsement before starting training. Also note, if you already currently hold a Class A or Class B CDL but do not have a Passenger Endorsement, you must take a Passenger Test to receive the Passenger Endorsement needed to drive a transit bus.

Q: How can I obtain a CDL Permit?

A: To obtain a CDL permit, you must pass three written tests. Tests are administered by the North Carolina D.M.V. at all Drivers License Offices. (Offices are open Monday through Friday). We encourage applicants seeking a CDL to obtain a copy of the CDL manual to study before taking the written tests. For your convenience the North Carolina Commercial Driver's Manual is available online at <http://www.ncdot.org/>. In addition, you may pick up a manual from any Driver's License Office. To obtain a permit to learn to drive a transit bus you must pass three written tests: A General Knowledge test, An Air Brakes test, and A Passenger test.

Q: What other qualifications are necessary to become a Bus Operator?

A: Most importantly is a North Carolina class B CDL (or permit) with P endorsement. Other qualifications are: demonstrated relevant employment history, strong customer service skills, good decision-making skills and a keen sense of responsibility. You must also possess the knowledge and ability to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and possess a high school education or its equivalent. In addition, a clean driving history and background check are required. Good attendance is essential for a bus operator.

Q: Are there physical requirements for being a Bus Operator?

A: To safely operate a commercial motor vehicle, you must be in good physical condition. A NC DOT medical card is required to obtain a CDL for driving a transit bus. Every commercial motor vehicle operator must be strong enough to drive his or her vehicle with ease. To drive a commercial motor vehicle, you should be able-bodied and free of physical disabilities. You should not suffer from chronic diseases such as heart trouble, seizure disorders, high or low blood pressure, fainting or dizzy spells, diabetes, or any other physical or mental disability that could reduce driver control, and you must never use narcotics, drugs, or abuse alcoholic beverages.

Q: Does GoTriangle provide CDL training?

A: Yes. As part of the regular training program, Trainees who begin employment with a CDL permit will receive in house training and testing required to obtain a CDL. After 6 months of employment, bus operators may be reimbursed for the expense of obtaining a Class B CDL license with a passenger endorsement.

Q: Will having points on my license disqualify me?

A: Applicants with more than two points will automatically be disqualified. If an applicant has two or fewer points, they may still be considered for employment based upon a clean overall driving history and year of most recent violation.

Q: Will you check my criminal background?

A: Yes. Background checks are performed on all candidates before an offer is extended. A candidate may be disqualified for employment based upon a criminal history of domestic violence, theft or drug possession.

Q: Does GoTriangle require drug testing?

A: Yes. GoTriangle is a Drug Free Work Place and requires pre-employment drug testing and random drug testing of Bus Operators. Testing is performed in compliance with Federal Regulations under 49 CFR Part 40 and 49 CFR Part 655.
